

TEMKIT FOR CHILDREN

TEMKIT'S MISSION:

To provide Bible based, true reading material for children and youth.

Year 1 - 3rd Quarter - Issue #2

CREATION CORNER

Not only did God make man in His image and give him a beautiful universe to live in, but He is also mindful of man's needs:

"The eyes of all wait upon thee; and thou givest them their meat in due season. Thou openest thine hand, and satisfiest the desire of every living thing." Psalm 145:15,16

Let's take a look at just a few of the ways God cares for the needs of His creatures. Do you know the water you drink is older than the pyramid, as old as the hills? Water may be polluted by chemicals or wastes, but let the sun evaporate or lift it into the atmosphere, and it becomes clean and usable again and again. Distributed by the rain, dew, or snow; what a tremendous water recycling system God designed!

And there is God's great power plant in the sky, our sun! If the sun were a little bigger or a little closer to Earth, our oceans would boil away. If the sun were just a little smaller or a little farther away, our atmosphere would freeze. Either way, life could not exist on Earth. But God not only created all things, He sustains all things!

The air we breathe is a gift of God: The Bible says, "In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind." Job 12:10

God designed the universe, and He knew just

CONTENTS:

CREATION CORNER

HISTORY

TRUE-STORY-TIME

BUILDING FOR JESUS

WEEKLY BIBLE LESSON

the right formula for the air we breathe to sustain life and health on Earth. He knew the right amount of nitrogen, oxygen, argon, and carbon dioxide to mix into the atmosphere. That certainly couldn't just happen!

God didn't create this beautiful world and magnificent universe in vain. He created it for beings who could appreciate and enjoy it. That is what the Bible means when it says,

"... He created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited." Isaiah 45:18. There is no end to the wonders in our natural world, no end to God's care for His creatures.

Think of the migration of the birds, one of the greatest puzzles of nature. How can birds weighing less than an ounce navigate thousands of miles nonstop to a destination they have never seen?

How could fish find streams where their lives began, 1,200 miles across featureless oceans? How did they learn to know when and where to go?

Who taught the honeybee to make the honeycomb, which is such an engineering marvel, and with a brain no larger than a pinhead?

Who is the Mastermind behind it all? Job tells us: "But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach thee; and the fowls of the air, and they shall tell thee: Or speak to the earth, and it shall teach thee:

and the fishes of the sea shall declare unto thee. Who knoweth not in all these that the hand of the LORD hath wrought this?" Job 12:7-9.

Yes, God did it all! In fact, our duty and privilege to worship God is based on the fact that He is our Creator, and to Him all things owe their existence. "Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture." Psalm 100:3. God knows our needs, and He has the power to supply those needs! = ^ .. ^ =

HISTORY

The Pastor in the Sewers

There was a man by the name of Milton Schustek who lived in Central Europe in a country where freedom is not always easy to attain. During the years of Soviet domination when there was great religious oppression, He experienced the following trial: When the Communists took over his country, He wanted to be free to worship on the Sabbath. He wanted to be free to read his Bible. He wanted to continue his work as a minister. But the Communists had other ideas. They were determined to turn all ministers into laborers. Milton knew that they wanted to send him as far away from his congregation as possible, far away to the coal mines.

But, he got an idea; he figured out a way that he might be able to stay close to his pastoral work in the city of Prague. There was one job in the city that nobody wanted. Nobody wanted to climb into those narrow, filthy culverts and clean them, hundreds of feet under the city. Milton decided to go see the communist officials about that job. But first, he got down on his knees and prayed. "Jesus," he said, "I want to worship you every Sabbath. Please help me to keep your law and to be honest and faithful to you." Milton was ushered in to see the local official. Milton said to her, "I understand you want to ship me to the mines to work. Let me tell you something. My grandfather worked in the mines and my father worked in the mines and I'm willing to work in whatever mine you send me.

But, I have a suggestion. You need someone to do the worst job you have. I know about it. It's climbing down into those sewers and I am willing to do it. Why don't you assign me to clean the sewer pipes of Prague. I'd be happy to do it, because that would give me the privilege of worshipping my God here." Something touched that Communist official's heart.

She looked up at him and said, "Pastor, I'm not a godly woman. I'm just trying to fulfill work assignments but I'll let you worship your God. Go clean the sewer pipes." You should have seen the look on Milton's face as he was telling the story.

He admitted it was a very tough job, very dark, very stressful. But every day it was worth it. He said, "I could worship my God in loyalty, in truth." Yes, God has His faithful people in every age. They are shining lights in a dark place. And I'd like you to take your stand among those faithful people. Don't worry about the obstacles you may face. Don't worry about the challenges your commitment may bring.

Milton Schustek was willing to serve God at any cost. And God took care of him, and He will take care of you too. = ^ .. ^ =

TRUE-STORY-TIME

On 8:45 am of 11th September 2001, a hijacked plane slammed into the North Tower of the World Trade Centre. Fire broke out immediately. Fire alarms sounded. On the 79th floor of the South Tower, one man was working in his office. He was preparing to escape. The security felt the building was strong and safe, and had been fire proofed. They turned off the alarms at South Tower and suggested people return to work regardless that the North Tower was under severe flames.

A second terrorist plane hit the South Tower after 18 minutes. This man luckily survived although his office was crumbled in pieces. He couldn't see well because the air was filled with dust. He found his flashlight and was heading down the stairs. For he believed going down is the only hope to escape.

Going downward, he met a group of people going upward. He and his fellow workers questioned why they go upward instead of downward. Some people expressed it is unsafe to go downward. This man still believed they should go downward, because flame is burning upward. While they were arguing, he heard some body was trapped in a door with a broken head. He managed to open it and saved him. While he was saving this victim, the majority had disappeared. He couldn't recall which direction they have escaped.

This man and the other man he saved ran downwards. He found no trouble at all. On his way going down, he had made sure all the fire doors were properly closed. He had even made a phone call to home to report safe and also to the security to inform them about that there was a group of people went upward. On his journey out, they meet no other people. Finally, they reached the ground floor. He described the scene was as if the hall has been vacant for a very long time. They finally returned home safe.

Both towers of World Trade Centre were collapsed because of severe fire. There were thousands of people killed in that tragedy.

We are all living in a world, which will soon end. However, some people believe that our world is very well constructed, which cannot be collapsed. So they turn off the alarm and go back to work or play.

We are all running for our lives. It is only those who follow the proper escape route that can survive. We should use our intelligence to study the Bible and seek God to know the correct route, but some people listen to myths and have chosen the wrong way, which will lead to eternal destruction.

The Majority is not necessarily correct. In fact in the Bible and history we see they are nearly always wrong! The escape route is long and tough. It is only those who trust in Jesus and are determined to follow Him no matter what happens that can make it. We can also be alert to help others all we can along the way. = ^ .. ^ =

Incredible Mission Story

Back in 1921, a missionary couple named David and Svea Flood went with their two-year-old son from Sweden to the heart of Africa: to what was then called the Belgian Congo. They met up with another young Scandinavian couple, the Ericksons, and the four of them sought God for direction. In those days of much tenderness and devotion and sacrifice, they felt led of the Lord to set out from the main mission station and take the gospel to a remote area. This was a huge step of faith.

At the village of N'dolera, they were rebuffed by the chief, who would not let them enter his town for fear of angering the local gods. The two couples went half a mile up the slope and build their own mud huts.

They prayed for a spiritual breakthrough, but there was none. The only contact with the villagers was a young boy, who was allowed to sell them chickens and eggs twice a week. Svea Flood, a tiny woman only four feet, eight inches tall, decided that if this was the only African she could talk to, she would try to lead the boy to Jesus. And in fact, she succeeded. But there were no other encouragements.

Meanwhile, malaria continued to strike one member of the little band after another. In time the Ericksons decided they had had enough suffering and left to return to the central mission station. David and Svea Flood remained near N'dolera to go on alone. Then, of all things, Svea found herself pregnant in the middle of the primitive wilderness. When the time came for her to give birth, the village chief softened enough to allow a midwife to help her. A little girl was born, whom they named Aina. The delivery, however, was exhausting, and Svea Flood was already weak from bouts of malaria. The birth was a heavy blow to her strength. She lived only another seventeen days.

Inside David Flood, something snapped in that moment. He dug a crude grave, buried his twenty-seven-year-old wife, and then took his children back down the mountain to the mission station. Giving his newborn daughter to the Ericksons, he snarled, "I'm going back to Sweden. I've lost my wife, and I obviously can't take care of this baby. God has ruined my life." With that, he headed for the port, rejecting not only his calling, but God himself.

Within eight months both the Ericksons were stricken with a mysterious malady and died within days of each other. The baby was then turned over to some American missionaries, who adjusted her Swedish name to "Aggie" and eventually brought her back to the United States at age three.

This family loved the little girl and were afraid that if they tried to return to Africa, some legal obstacle might separate her from them. So they decided to stay in their home country and switch from missionary work to pastoral ministry. And that is how Aggie grew up in South Dakota. As a young woman, she attended North Central Bible College in Minneapolis. There she met and married a young man named Dewey Hurst.

Years passed. The Hursts enjoyed a fruitful Ministry. Aggie had a daughter, then a son. In time her husband became president of a Christian college in the Seattle area, and Aggie was intrigued to find so much Scandinavian heritage there. One day a Swedish religious magazine appeared in her mailbox. She had no idea who had sent it, and of course she couldn't read the words. But as she turned the pages, all of a sudden a photo stopped her cold. There in a primitive setting was a grave with a white cross, and on the cross were the words SVEA FLOOD. Aggie jumped in her car and went straight for a college faculty member who, she knew, could translate the article.

“What does this say?” she demanded. The teacher read the story: It was about missionaries who had come to N’dolera long ago ... the birth of a white baby ... the death of the young mother ... the one little African boy who had been led to Christ ... and how, after the whites had all left, the boy had grown up and finally persuaded the chief to let him build a school in the village.

The article said that gradually he won all his students to Christ... the children led their parents to Christ... even the chief had become a Christian. Today there were six hundred Christian believers in that one village.... All because of the sacrifice of David and Svea Flood.

For the Hursts’ twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, the college presented them with the gift of a vacation to Sweden. There Aggie sought to find her real father.

An old man now, David Flood had remarried and had four more children, and generally ruined his life with alcohol. He had recently suffered a stroke. Still bitter, he had one rule in his family: “Never mention the name of God, because God took everything from me.”

After an happy reunion with her half brothers and half sister, Aggie brought up the subject of seeing her father. The others hesitated. “You can talk to him,” they replied, “even though he’s very ill now. But you need to know that whenever he hears the name of God, he flies into a rage.”

Aggie was not to be deterred. She walked into the shabby apartment, with liquor bottles everywhere, and approached the seventy-three-year-old man lying in a rumpled bed.

“Papa?” she said tentatively. He turned and began to cry. “Aina,” he said. “I never meant to give you away.”

“It’s all right, Papa,” she replied, taking him gently in her arms. “God took care of me. The man instantly stiffened. The tears stopped. “God forgot all of us. Our lives have been like this because of him.” He turned his face back to the wall.

Aggie stroked his face and then continued, undaunted. “Papa, I’ve got a little story to tell you, and it’s a true one. You didn’t go to Africa in vain.

Mama didn’t die in vain. The little boy you won to the Lord grew up to win that whole village to Jesus Christ. The one seed you planted just kept growing and growing. Today there are six hundred African people serving the Lord because you were faithful to the call of God in your life. ...

“Papa, Jesus loves you. He has never hated you. The old man turned back to look into his daughter’s eyes. His body relaxed. He began to talk. And by the end of the afternoon, he had come back to the God he had resented for so long. Over the next few days, father and daughter enjoyed warm moments together. Aggie and her husband soon had to return to America and within a few weeks, David Flood had gone into eternity.

A few years later, the Hursts were attending a high-level evangelism conference in London, England, when a report was given from the nation of Zaire (the former Belgian Congo). The superintendent of the national church, representing some 110,000 baptized believers, spoke eloquently of the gospel’s spread in his nation.

Aggie could not help going to ask him afterward if he had ever heard of David and Svea Flood. “Yes, madam,” the man replied in French, his words then being translated into English. “It was Svea Flood who led me to Jesus Christ. I was the boy who brought food to your parents before you were born. In fact, to this day your mother’s grave and her memory are honored by all of us.”

He embraced her in a long, sobbing hug. Then he continued, “You must come to Africa to see, because your mother is the most famous person in our history.”

In time that is exactly what Aggie Hurst and her husband did. They were welcomed by cheering throngs of villagers. She even met the man who had been hired by her father many years before to carry her back down the mountain in a hammock-cradle.

The most dramatic moment, of course, was when the pastor escorted Aggie to see her mother’s white cross for herself. She knelt in the soil to pray and give thanks. Later that day, in the church, the pastor read from John 12:24: “I tell you the truth, unless a kernel of wheat falls to the ground and dies, it remains only a single seed. But if it dies, it produces many seeds.” He then followed with Psalm 126:5: “Those who sow in tears will reap with songs of joy.” = ^ .. ^ =

BUILDING FOR JESUS

PROPHECY; OUR FOUNDATION

The Advent movement in the 1800s was a movement of prophecy. All over the world as 'the Time of the End' arrived in 1798; people's attention was brought to the book of Daniel. The book that had been sealed to the time of the end was now open and light was streaming out of it to the world. ("But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased." Daniel 12:4)

The prophecies, as they began to be unfolded before the earnest gaze of true seekers for truth, were like honey, sweet to their taste. Although at first the worldly minded in the churches were interested in the prophetic message, they are always interested in something new, But when they began to understand that Jesus was literally going to return and all their earthly interests would then be swept away, their interest cooled. Soon they rejected the messages of prophecy and persecuted those who believed in them.

By doing this they lost forever the ability to understand the prophecies properly. The Holy Spirit turned from them to those who loved the Holy Word and the Advent movement grew up on the foundation of prophecy. Those who rejected the light were left in darkness and many wrong ideas of prophecy were chosen by them.

Dear young people, the prophecies and their true meaning as understood by letting the Bible interpret itself, are our heritage! No other people on earth has been given the light on prophecy that we were given. But what is happening? More and more SDAs are looking to the worldly churches and copying what they do and teach! The ministers are not teaching the TRUE meaning of the prophecies. This knowledge is our birthright! We are the people of PROPHECY, the people of the BIBLE! Am I proud of this, am I 'uppity'? I sure am! I am always proud of the Word of my God!

Young Friends, don't let anybody steal your birthright! Get the Great Controversy 1884 or 1888 edition and read it through and also the good old Daniel and Revelation book by Uriah Smith. Many of the newer books do NOT have the true prophecy understanding of our pioneers. Satan is working hard to confuse us about prophecy as he knows his dark forces cannot stand against the weapons of prophecy!

I first read the book 'Daniel and Revelation' by Uriah Smith when I was an erliteen and the prophecies gave me faith that no matter what the world said or did, I knew God's Word was true!

Reading this book and the Great Controversy is important for young people. Throw away the silly fiction and foolish entertainment of the world and see for yourself what God has to show you! You'll never be sorry! = ^ .. ^ =

Year 1: 3rd Quarter:
"DANIEL, THE PROPHET"
WEEKLY BIBLE LESSON 2:
"THE KING'S DREAM"

For our Bible lessons we are going to use the King James Version of the Bible. Just like the boys and girls used to use to learn to read from in the pioneer days.

There will be some texts to look up for each day and you should practice your memory verse until you can say it without looking. Don't forget to learn the text too.

MEMORY VERSE: "We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts." 2 Peter 1:19

Read the whole story in Daniel 2

Sunday

Text: Daniel 2:1 “And in the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreams, wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleep brake from him.”

The King called for his wise men and magicians. As soon as they came before the King they were worried; the king was upset and angry like a lion; this was a problem! Quickly the king explains the situation. “I have dreamed a dream.”

Perhaps at this the ‘wise men’ relax a little. A Dream? Well they were experts at making up pleasing explanations for dreams. “Let the King tell the dream and we will explain it” they assure him.

“I tell you I can’t remember the dream!” he shouts, “You tell me my dream AND what it means!”

All faces pale at this; they had no problem with making up lying explanations, but if they made up a lying dream, the King would know and goodbye heads!

Shocked to the core, they begin to reason with the King that his demand was impossible. “And it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can shew it before the king, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh.” Daniel 2:11

Now they had really goofed! They were always claiming that they could talk with the gods and had all knowledge. You know; ‘Great Swami; sees all and knows all’, and here they admit it’s all a pack of lies. No wonder the King was furious!

“For this cause the king was angry and very furious, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babylon.” Daniel 2:12

Thought - If one is in the habit of telling lies, someday he will get caught in them!

Monday

Text: Daniel 2:13 “And the decree went forth that the wise men should be slain; and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be slain.”

The pagan wise men of the land were really foolish in many ways. The Bible tells us the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom and those who worship idols are not really smart. (Proverbs 9:10. Isaiah 45:16) So they hadn’t even begun to be wise.

They were jealous of Daniel and his friends, keeping them out of the affairs of the king as much as they could. Now here they were, being marched off to be executed; they didn’t feel so good about that.

Even though Daniel and his friends didn’t get called to appear before the King, they were still included in the decree for the execution, and here came the chief executioner pounding on their door, still early in the morning: “Get up and go to your execution!” Talk about a bad day!

Because Daniel knew he belonged to God, he remained calm and asked what the problem was. Then he assured the chief guard that if the King would just give a little time, he would be able to talk with the God of heaven, and tell the King what he wanted to know.

The time was granted, and Daniel and his friends fasted and prayed that God would reveal the secret to them for His honour and glory. That night God gave Daniel the same dream as was seen by the King. Read Daniel’s prayer of thanks in Daniel 2:20-23.

Thought - If God gives a prophetic dream to a heathen, he sends a man of God to interpret it. Magicians and fortune-tellers are not able to understand the things of God.

Tuesday

Text: Daniel 2: 30 “But as for me, this secret is not revealed to me for any wisdom that I have more than any living, but for their sakes that shall make known the interpretation to the king, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thy heart.”

Coming in before the king, and being careful to give all the credit for knowing the dream to the God of heaven, Daniel tells the strange dream of a great image made of different metals; ‘The form thereof was terrible’. The head was gold, then the chest and arms were silver, the belly and thighs were brass, and the legs iron, but the feet were made of iron mixed with clay.

Then in the dream, a great stone appeared, cut out without hands from a mountain, and hit the image on the feet, causing it to crumble into dust, which was then blown away and seen no more. The rock grew larger and filled the whole earth.

The King was sitting on the edge of his throne, amazed and excited. Daniel continues telling him what the dream meant: “You were thinking about the future and God of heaven has sent you this dream to tell you about what will happen.” Daniel tells the king that the head of gold is his kingdom, "Thou art that head of gold." But he goes on to say that another kingdom will follow and it would not be as great as Babylon. Then a third kingdom of brass, followed by a fourth of iron, but then the story changes there is to be no fifth world kingdom, instead the iron kingdom breaks up.

The image progresses from the valuable and beautiful head of gold, Babylon the golden kingdom; all the way down to clay and iron, ugly and almost worthless, showing each kingdom lower in value to the one before it.

Now if this was something made up by man, they naturally would say that the kingdoms got better and richer, wouldn't they? Men think that things get better and better on this earth don't they? But God tells the truth; it is getting worse and worse!

Thought - This amazing prophecy is one of the strongest proofs that the Bible is the true Word of God. No man could have made this up, and it is still true today!

Wednesday

Text Daniel 2:42, 43 "And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly broken. And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay."

'Every nation that has come upon the stage of action has been permitted to occupy its place on the earth, that the fact might be determined whether it would fulfil the purposes of the Watcher and the Holy One. Prophecy has traced the rise and progress of the world's great empires, Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece, and Rome. With each of these, as with the nations of less power, history has repeated itself. Each has had its period of test; each has failed, its glory faded, its power departed.' Prophets & Kings, page 535.

Now here is another amazing thing; if a man was making this story up and there had been four world kingdoms, would he not have said there would be a fifth? But No, God said there would be only four, and the Iron kingdom of Rome would just crumble into a mixture of strong and weak pieces.

The final part of the image is where we are today, the feet mixed with iron and clay. Now as the Bible says, Iron and clay do NOT mix together. They won't cleave, that is stick to each other. Iron is strong but clay is weak and so our world is made up of nations, some strong and others weak.

Daniel went on to explain to the king that in those times of the clay and iron, the kings of earth would try by having their daughters and sons marry each other, to unite the countries into one again, but it would not work. The Kings and Queens of Europe for hundreds of years did this, until all the ruling families were related to each other, but still they would not 'cleave' one to another!

Many great rulers have tried to put the kingdoms back together and rule them all; there were Charlemagne, Napoleon, Kaiser Wilhelm and Hitler but they all failed and perished.

Thought - God's Word will never fail! We can trust it to guide us right and know that everything written there will come true! God has given us the prophecies so we can see that He is God, and He knows what is happening. His people can rely on Him!

Thursday

Text: Daniel 2: 40,41 "And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all these, shall it break in pieces and bruise. And whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters' clay, and part of iron, the kingdom shall be divided; but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, forasmuch as thou sawest the iron mixed with miry clay."

This terrible Iron Kingdom of Rome ruled the world as described in the prophecy, with harsh cruelty. Then the iron and clay brings us to the time of Papal Rome and we are told it represents the mixing together of church and government. In Papal Rome the church used the government power to force the people to obey it. This is wrong and brings the most terrible trouble to the world. You cannot mix iron and clay together and have it work; the mixture is good for nothing as the clay spoils the iron, and the iron ruins the clay. When people try and put the worldly governments together with God's church, it spoils both the government and the church.

'The kingdoms that followed (Babylon) were even more base and corrupt. They deteriorated because they cast off their allegiance to God. As they forgot Him, they sank lower and still lower in the scale of moral value. The vast empire of Rome crumbled to pieces, and from its ruins rose that mighty power, the Roman Catholic Church. This church boasts of her infallibility and her hereditary religion. But this religion is a horror to all who are acquainted with the secrets of the mystery of iniquity. The priests of this church maintain their ascendancy by keeping the people in ignorance of God's will, as revealed in the Scriptures.' Youth's Instructor, September 22, 1903.

Thought - God's kingdom is never, never to be ruled by force or worldly power. God only accepts those who serve Him because they want to.

Friday

Text: Daniel 2:44 "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever."

The last event in the dream was the Rock, cut out without hands, that hits the image and grinds it to powder. This Rock is Jesus' kingdom, which at His coming will destroy all of man's proud glory, which will blow away like dust. Jesus' Truth, his Word will overcome all, and those who trust in Him shall never be ashamed, and will never be sorry that they gave all their hearts and lives to Him. But the people who reject God and spend their time on the things of the world, wealth, power, possessions, fun and entertainment, will be sorry, for it will all be crushed to powder and blow away, leaving them lost for eternity.

In the lessons to follow we are going to learn more about the prophecies of the book of Daniel. There are four sets of prophecies in Daniel and each one tells the same story as the Kings dream, but each one adds more details and shows us more clearly what God said about the future.

When you study the prophecies and history together and see how clearly and simply God showed, thousands of years ahead of time, just what would happen, in detail; your faith will grow stronger and you will know we serve a great, living God.

The pioneers of the Adventists did study and understand those prophecies, and that was what gave them great courage and hope. This knowledge will give you courage and hope also.

'The Lord was working in the Babylonian kingdom, and communicating light to the four Hebrew youth, in order that he might represent his work before the idolatrous nation. He would reveal that he had power over the kingdoms of the world, power to enthrone and to dethrone kings. The King over all kings was communicating great truths to the Babylonian monarch, and awakening in his mind a realisation of his responsibility to God. Nebuchadnezzar saw clearly the difference between the wisdom of God and the wisdom of the most learned men of his kingdom.' Youth's Instructor, September 8, 1903.

Thought - The wisdom of God's Word, the Bible, is higher than man's ideas as the stars are higher than the earth! = ^ .. ^ =

The Great Image of Daniel 2

